The Outdoor Code

As a world citizen, I will do my best to

Be Clean in My Outdoor Manners—I will treat the outdoors as a heritage to be improved for our greater enjoyment. I will keep my trash and garbage out of Americas waters, fields, woods, and roadways.

Be Careful With Fire—I will prevent wildfire. I will build my fire in a safe place and be sure it is out before I leave.

Be Considerate in the Outdoors—I will treat public and private property with respect. I will remember that use of the outdoors is a privilege I can lose by abuse.

Be Conservation-Minded—I will learn how to practice good conservation of soil, waters, forests, minerals, grasslands, and wildlife; and will use sportsmanlike methods in all my outdoor activities.

This edition of the Where to Go Camping Booklet is based on the 1996 Where to Go Camping Booklet produced by the Gajuka Lodge Booklet Committee, and includes information gathered from the 1995 Otahnagon Lodge Where to Go Camping Booklet produced by the Otahnagon Lodge Camp Promotions Committee, as well as state and local sources.

Introduction

Otahnagon Lodge, Order of the Arrow, is an organization of honored campers within the Baden-Powell Council. The organization exists not to serve itself, but rather the whole scouting community. One of the main avenues of service is to promote scout camping within the council. With this aim in mind, Otahnagon Lodge is proud to present the 2001 edition of Where To Go Camping.

It is our hope that you will use this booklet to help find new and exciting places for your camping enjoyment. We would like to have a diverse selection of camps; this is why we have included an information sheet in the back of this book. If you know of a great place that should be shared with other troops in the council, please fill out the form and send it in. Thank you, and happy camping!

General Information

Reservations: Many entries in this book specify that reservations are necessary. Even if the book makes no mention of reservations, please call in advance. If you reserve a site ahead of time, you will be assured a place to sleep at night. It will also help show the owner that you respect his or her property and appreciate the use of it.

Cost: Because fees vary based on services desired, and are subject to change without notification, we have elected to omit specific cost information and instead provide a general idea of cost when possible. It is best to use the information provided as a rough estimate, then call to determine the exact price when you make reservations.

Medical: It is important that every camper be properly insured. As well, each leader should have a release form with a parent's or a guardian's signature in case of emergency. We recommend that you use the health and medical form issued by the Boy Scouts of America. For more information, consult the Scoutmasters Handbook or contact your Council office.

Uniform: The Boy Scout Uniform is a universally recognized item of clothing. When scouts travel in a group, they should wear their uniform. In addition to identifying you as Scouts, this may entitle your troop to special privileges or discounts.

Public Image: Because the Boy Scouts are well known, the scouts should conduct themselves in accordance with the ideals of scouting. The Scout Oath, Law, and Outdoor Code should be used as guides to conduct while on a trip.

Use of this book

Where To Go Camping uses three subtitles for each campsite listing:

Contact: This is an address to write to for more information on the campsite, request a site, etc.

Features: This is a brief list of some of the things each site offers, such as attractions, facilities and benefits.

Directions: How to get to the campsite.

A note on water: water available at campsites will not be purified unless specified. If water is not listed as available at a campsite facility, bring your own.
---

The information in this booklet is by no means complete. Over the next several years, we hope to improve this booklet so it is easier for you to use and as informative as possible. We encourage you to fill out the information sheet at the end of the booklet if you have any ideas or suggestions that would help improve it.

We apologize if there are mistakes in this book; if you find any, please help us fix them by notifying us via the mailing address found at the end of Where To Go Camping.

Remember this is your book, not ours. Your feedback will improve the quality of information found in Where To Go Camping, which will, in turn, benefit you and your fellow campers.

Many thanks, and happy camping,

Camping Promotions Committee
Otahnagon Lodge 172
Baden-Powell Council

High Adventure

High adventure camps are very different from most camps. These are owned nationally, and much more challenging than a summer camp. You will need a crew of about 6 to 12 scouts (adults as well) and you will need training. These camps have a long waiting list, so plan in advance. We encourage any troop interested in attending a high adventure camp to train its members in advance. Without proper training, you could have a lot of difficulty. High adventure camps can be very rewarding, build self-confidence, and be an incredible experience. Information is available through your council office, as well as through the camp directly.

In the case of rented vehicles the requirement of coverage limits can be met by combining the limits of personal coverage carried by the driver with coverage carried by the owner of the rented vehicle. All vehicles used in travel outside the United States must carry a public liability and property damage liability insurance policy that complies with or exceeds the requirements of that country.
